Webinars, Q&A's, Podcasts and MORE!

Webinars + Q&A

We run regular Q&A webinars for our educators, going over the evolving current COVID-19 pandemic, knowing many of them will have questions. The webinar changes to reflect the developing situation, but we generally discuss update from our schools, changes to policies and procedures, and steps anzuk is taking to continue to support the wider education community.

Podcast

The podcast is run by our very own consultants at anzuk, where we talk about the latest education news and interview with some of the best in the world of education. The aim of this podcast is to hopefully inspire and help our educators with their journey.

A chance for our educators to have a fun social evening with other educators from the comfort of their home. We want to engage our minds and stay socially connected to others during this period as much as we can!

Educator engagement

We are individually calling to check in with our educators, checking to see how they are going during this time, as well as confirming their current availability for work during this period.

We are using our Facebook page to create and allow engagement between educators in their local areas.

Recruiting more quality educators for your school!

We are still busy during this time connecting with educators, working with them to support our local schools.

We are utilizing this time to try lots of different recruiting techniques, such as using LinkedIn, Seek Talent Search, Facebook groups, etc to bring on more educator numbers, without dropping in quality.
